

'Let's Learn'

We have been learning about:

21.05.18

We are so sorry that we needed to postpone today's parent workshop, due to the weather.

However, we really wanted you to be able to experience the outdoor learning that your children have access to and so rather than working indoors again, we opted to postpone for a date at the beginning of next half term.

We hope you will join us!

Our children have been busy exploring this week. We have had such a wonderful amount of challenge and learning it's been hard to keep up! Reading continues to remain a key focus for us and so we encourage you to spend as much time as you can over the holiday reading and sharing books with your child.

Please use the holiday reading challenge to record your books and write a review with your child of their favourite one!

This week we have been writing reports about tortoises. The children reflected on their previous learning to create some very informative writing about this group of reptiles.

Please do take some time to talk to your child about their knowledge and learning.
