

'Let's Learn'

We have been learning about:

09.11.18

Welcome back!

What a wonderful return to school. It has been so lovely to see your children again and hear all about their first half term break.

This week, we have been exploring a new text: "The Lighthouse Keeper's Lunch". The children wrote about what they thought they might see if they were to sail across the ocean and have generally been fantastic! Well done everyone!

This week we will be sending home our special bookmarks. The bookmark project is a piece of action research which aims to develop resources to support parents as they read with their children at home.

I will be seeking to put together a working group of parents who can give some time to discuss and develop the bookmarks during the year, in the hope that we can develop a resource which really helps.

Please do let me know what you think about them and how you are using them at home.

Congratulations to:

Phoebe, Gabriel, Tom, Sawson, Ava, Hugo and Eve, who now know all 45 of their high frequency reading words.

And of course well done to all our children who continue to make massive progress on their reading journey every week. Keep up your great work!

Thank you to those parents who were able to attend the maths workshop this week.

The slides from the session have been sent home today, so you will be able to read through the information.

Please do come and have a chat if we can help in any other way.
