

The Big Bang!

Finally we thought about how we might explore the planets? How would we get up into space? And of course, how would we get down again?

We created designs of our methods of travel and used them as guides to make our inventions from a range of materials.

